From the WLP website:

Brother Mickey McGrath presents a new book for young people (of all ages!) containing inspiration from Pope Francis in the form of quotations and tweets. Colorful and sometimes whimsical art helps illustrate Francis' vision for making the kingdom of God real in our world. Brother Mickey adds his own writings to include his encounters in daily life where he meets the marginalized, the sick, the poor, and those in desperate need of a better life. Mickey's years as an educator give him a unique insight into the minds of those eager to grow and learn. This unforgettable book will bring joy and inspiration to all ages!

Office for the Missions and Office for Worship and the Catechumenate Recommendation:

- Each chapter begins with a page of text putting the topic in context and ends with some practical encouragement to the reader and hearer.
- Suitable for a child's book to bring to church; adults to engage in faith conversations with children; godparents; all those looking for inspiration on Christian living in this age....
- The Pope Francis quotes in the color images are cited on pp. 61-62 allowing catechists and teachers to expand a conversation using the document and the individual image.
- Posters are not (yet?) available. Buy 2-3 copies of the book to separate art work for posting.
- Publisher link permits viewing 18 sample pages.
- Author creates weekly devotional art images and features on his Facebook page: Bro. Mickey O'Neill McGrath, OSFS – <https://www.facebook.com/bromickeymcgrath>.
